Together, we can make this happen. Many Voices. Many Hands. All Burke's.

Your investment will benefit generations of Burke's girls.

The world is moving fast, and so is Burke's.

KATHERINE DELMAR BURKE SCHOOL
7070 California Street, San Francisco, CA 94121
415.751.0177 • www.kdbs.org

MANY VOICES. MANY HANDS
This is bold. This is Burke's.

WE WANT TO BE THE MODEL FOR K-8 ALL-GIRLS EDUCATION IN THE COUNTRY.

More endowment means more resources each year in the classrooms for our girls and being able to retain and attract the best teachers.

— JOHN WALCOTT
Burke's parent and member of the Board of Trustees
Our girls for the 21st-century world. This is where we need your help. We need a space that supports this type of learning, so that we can best prepare our girls as how to work with people from across the globe. Our girls have to be confident, and resourceful female leaders.

At Burke's, we believe it is our responsibility to equip our students to take significant strides to change the world we live in. Not only will they make change in their immediate community, but they will also impact the world for preparing girls to make a positive impact in society. Not only will they make change in their immediate community, but they will also impact the world.

Our world is evolving by the minute, at a pace that few can keep up with. Teachers that are in high demand and courted by other independent schools due to a small pool of talent. Many Voices. Many Hands. All Burke's.

While their journey will be filled with endless opportunity and exciting possibilities, invariably there will be challenges to face and barriers to overcome. And so, it is our duty to educate and prepare young women for the world that lies ahead of them.